

Per-oral Endoscopic Myotomy (POEM) and Endoscopic Submucosal Dissection (ESD): Hands-on Course

Date:

January 8, 2016

Location:

Columbia University Medical Center/NYP
New York, NY

Capacity:

30 participants

Target audience:

Interventional gastroenterologists,
GI fellows and residents

Objectives:

- Discuss basic principles of ESD
- Discuss basic principles of POEM
- Review methods for defect closure
- Review principles of electro-surgery

Course Directors:

Michel Kahaleh, MD, AGAF, FACC, FASGE
Chief of Endoscopy
Weill Cornell Medical College

Amrita Sethi, MD
Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine
Columbia University Medical Center

Reem Sharaiha, MD
Assistant Professor of Medicine
Weill Cornell Medical College

Agenda:

7:30am-8:00	Breakfast and Welcome Didactics	Hands-on Animal Lab
8:00am-8:30	Principles of ESD Amrita Sethi, MD	10:00am-12:00pm ESD techniques on explant tissue
8:30am-9:00	Principles of POEM Michel Kahaleh, MD	12:00pm-1:00pm Lunch
9:00am-9:30	Perforation and mucosal defect closure Reem Sharaiha, MD	1:00pm-3:00pm ESD techniques in live animal model (6 stations)
9:30am-9:50	Principles of Electro-surgery Mike Mack	3:00pm-5:00pm POEM techniques in live animal model (6 stations)
9:50am-10:00	Break	5:00pm Adjourn

Registration: To register online and/or make a credit card payment of $750.00 please visit: <http://columbiasurgery.org/events/upcoming> and select Per-oral Endoscopic Myotomy (POEM) and Endoscopic Submucosal Dissection (ESD)

Email Dr. Michel Kahaleh, Course Director at: mkahaleh@gmail.com or call 646-962-4797

Location: NYP/Columbia, 630 W. 168th Street, 18th floor, New York, NY 10032